

Home Theater

No More Field Terminations!

Theater systems are more commonplace than ever – growing at exponential rates in homes, cars and even on yachts. But installation of these systems can be complex, requiring the valuable time of skilled labor to complete. Plus, in an effort to ensure the strongest signal quality, high definition video sources tend to present their own set of connection problems.

Enter RapidRun, the modular interconnect system for A/V and Video presentation systems that can transmit multiple signals over a single cable – including composite video, S-Video, component video and, with new digital capabilities, any combination of HDMI and DVI video.

Timesaving, flexible RapidRun:

- Ends terminating hassles
– no more splicing and soldering
- Connects in less than a minute – thanks to color-coded terminations (or break-aways) requiring no tools
- Reconnects for upgrades just as easily
– no pulling new cable
